EXPECTED ACTION TAKEN WILSON FIXES THE DATE

SPECIAL SESSION MEETS APRIL 7

Tariff Revision the Only Subject
To Be Given Consideration.

WILSON ALTERS ORIGINAL PLANS

House Leaders Reported Elated Over the Determination of the President to Co-operate With Them in Limiting the Business of the Extraordinary Session—Republicans Not to Filibuster Against Tariff Bill.

Washington, March 13.—President Wilson's proclamation assembling the sixty-third congress in special session will fix April 7 as the date and suggest that the revision of the tariff should be the only subject given consideration.

These facts became known following a conference between President Wilson and Representative Underwood, the Democratic leader of the house. It has been decided that action on a measure proposing changes in the banking and currency laws shall be deferred until the regular session of congress that will begin in December. It was originally the intention of President Wilson to call congress together on or about April 1.

The change in date was made to give the tariff makers of the house more time in which to complete the revision bills. There is a strong probability, however, that in his first message to congress President Wilson will discuss banking and currency reform.

The house leaders are elated over the determination of the president to co-operate with them in limiting the business of the special session to the tariff. It means that congress will adjourn in a comparatively reasonable time. The Republicans will not filibuster against the Democratic tariff bill. They will register their protests in given cases, making no effort to prevent the dominant party from putting through its program.

Also the president's decision means that a complete reorganization of the house may be put over until December.

The tariff makers are grinding away these days in the office of the committee on ways and means. They already have passed over schedule A, dealing with chemicals, and schedule B, having to do with earthenware, pottery and like products. Work has commenced on schedule C, the metal schedule. This schedule is bound to stir up trouble in committee and in the house.

The Colonel Will Remain No Longer In Shadow

Colonel Leaves For Philadelphia to Address Progressives.

New York, March 13.—Colonel Roosevelt left today for Philadelphia, where he will speak tonight at a mass meeting in the Metropolitan opera house. Friday night he will be the chief speaker at a dinner of Pennsylvania Progressives at the Bellevue Stratford hotel. March 29 he will speak at Detroit to Michigan Progressives.

This break of Colonel Roosevelt's into speechmaking again was interpreted in some quarters as portending an assault upon politics in this city, the result of which would be the appearance of Charles S. Whitman as Progressive candidate for mayor; a fight for the governorship in 1914 with Colonel Roosevelt the Progressive candidate, and the candidacy in 1916 of Colonel Roosevelt as president of the United States.

PITCHFORK SENATOR IS OUT IN THE OPEN ASSERTING CLAIMS

TILLMAN AT WAR WITH COMMITTEE

Demands Chairmanship of Committee on Appropriations.

QUOTES RULE OF SENIORITY

South Carolina Senator, If Slighted, Will Appeal to the Democratic Caucus—O'Gorman Slated For Head of Canal Committee, Bacon For Foreign Relations and Gore For Agriculture.

Washington, March 13.—A tug of war is on between Senator Tillman, the picturesque senator from South Carolina, and the Democratic committee on committees. The committee is very positive that the senator should yield the chairmanship of the committee on appropriations, to which he is entitled under the rule of seniority, and take a place at the head of the committee on naval affairs, for which he is also eligible by rank. Senator Tillman insists he should have the choice.

Representatives of the committee have told Senator Tillman that his age and infirmities would prevent him from giving the necessary attention required by the appropriations committee. Senator Tillman came back with the statement if he was not qualified to fill the chairmanship of the appropriations committee he is not fit to be chairman of the naval affairs or any other big committee. Senator Tillman will probably appear in the Democratic caucuses if it becomes necessary and plead his own case personally.

The Democratic committee of the committee on committees spent another day behind closed doors. Among the matters believed settled is the fact that Senator O'Gorman will be chairman of the committee on inter-oceanic canals; Senator Bacon on foreign relations; Senator Gore on agriculture; Senator Shively will go to the head of the pension committee; Senator Bankhead will probably have postoffices and postroads; Senator Newlands will preside over interstate commerce; Senator Chamberlain of Oregon will head public lands; Senator Overman will be chairman of rules, and Senator Thornton of Louisiana will be chairman of fisheries.

Senator Tillman.

MOTHER JONES

May Be Tried In Civil Court
On Charge of Conspiracy.

"Mother" Jones May Be Compelled To Submit To Court Trial

UP TO THE COURTS

Governor Hatfield Willing to Turn Over Prisoners Held by Military.

Charleston, W. Va., March 13.—At the command of Governor Henry D. Hatfield, the military commission at Paint Creek Junction in the martial law district, before whom "Mother" Jones, John F. Brown, Charles H. Boswell and 40 striking coal miners are being tried for murder and conspiracy, postponed the further hearing of the charges. Attorney General Lilly said the governor was willing, if the circuit court of Kanawha county would take upon itself the responsibility for the protection of life and property in the martial law district, to turn over to the court the custody of the prisoners now held by the military authorities and would also withdraw the troops from the strike field.

Taft President of Johns Hopkins? Baltimore, March 13.—There has been much discussion in university circles regarding the possibility of ex-President Taft being asked to take the presidency of Johns Hopkins university. The suggestion is being discussed among the trustees.

New Pictures of Several of President Wilson's Advisers

Photos copyright, 1913, by American Press Association.

PRESIDENT WILSON has selected comparatively young men for his official family, and with few exceptions they are men without much political experience as public officials. But they are men who are distinguished along the lines in which their previous energies have been spent. Here are pictures of some of these men made since they became officially a part of the Wilson administration: 1, David F. Houston of Missouri, secretary of agriculture; 2, Albert S. Burleson of Texas, postmaster general; 3, Lindley M. Garrison of New Jersey, secretary of war; 4, William J. Bryan of Nebraska, secretary of state; 5, William G. McAdoo of New York, secretary of the treasury; 6, James C. McReynolds of Tennessee, attorney general.

Ex-Governor Dockery was named third assistant postmaster general after Speaker Champ Clark and United States Senator Stone of Missouri had seen President Wilson. The president was glad to listen to the speaker's recommendations.

Blossom And Rube Spliced

San Francisco, March 13.—Rube Marquard, New York Giants' pitcher, and Blossom Seeley, his vaudeville partner, were married at the home of Rev. Henry S. Felix, pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran church. Before his marriage Rube agreed to sign a contract with McGraw. Marquard will report at Baltimore shortly to join the Giants. It is understood his salary will be $10,000.

Outlines Plan In Address to the Good Roads Congress.

Columbus, O., March 13.—Today witnessed the third and final session of the Rural Life and Good Roads Congress. Another large crowd assembled in Memorial hall to hear talented speakers dilate on the many benefits of good roads and the necessity for the betterment of rural life. Charles L. Swain, speaker of the Ohio house of representatives, presided.

G. Gordon Reel, superintendent of highways of New York state, was the first speaker. He told all about what New York had accomplished in the way of building good roads. Other themes and the speakers were:

"The Commercial Value of Good Roads," Hon. Philip T. Colgrove, president of the Michigan Good Roads association; "Economics of Rural Progress," Dr. W. O. Thompson, president Ohio State university; "Good Roads and Community Life," Rev. Samuel S. Palmer, D. D., pastor Broad Street Presbyterian church, Columbus, O.; "Dirt, Dollars and Sense," Hon. A. P. Sandles, secretary Ohio state board of agriculture.

UNION LABOR CLASHES IN PLAN

IT INCLUDES ALL WOMEN TOILERS

House Favors the Nine-Hour Day
Bill After a Long Struggle.

EIGHT-HOUR AMENDMENT LOST

Measure Creating an Industrial Commission, Clothed With Vast Powers, Also Passed by the Lower Branch. Sterilization Proposition Goes by the Board—Resume of Legislative Proceedings.

Columbus, O., March 13.—Union labor forces and forces of the administration clashed in the house in a long struggle, resulting in the passage of the Haas industrial commission bill and approval on second reading of the Vollmer woman's nine-hour workday bill, the latter amended to include house servants and therefore comprising every class of employment of women and girls.

The administration won under the generalship of Representative Kilpatrick of Trumbull in putting through, ready for signature by the governor, the industrial commission enabling measure intact as it came from the senate, and conferring vast powers, powers which some labor leaders declared were dangerous to the interests of the workingmen.

The three commissioners who will take over the duties of seven departments dealing with employers and employes, will have the power to step in between capital and labor and fix the hours of labor, a power which labor leaders declared a menace to the permanency of wages won by strikes, contentions and negotiation. The only limitation to this power is that the commission may not interfere with the nine-hour maximum for employed women and the eight-hour maximum on public contracts.

By the narrow vote of 57 to 59 the house refused the demand of labor representatives to make the Vollmer bill an eight-hour measure, as it was originally.

The industrial commission bill provides for the consolidation under the commission Sept. 1, 1913, of the departments of state labor commissioner, state mine inspector, state liability board of awards, state inspector of workshops and factories, state inspector of steam engineers, and board of boilers rules.

The house definitely disposed of the Cowan operation bill, authorizing prevention of procreation of children by insane, habitual criminals and other wards of charitable and penal institutions. The bill was laid on the table.

Trouble Is Ended

GARMENT STRIKE AT AN END

Thirty Thousand Workers Receive Concessions and Return to Work. New York, March 13.—The big strike of the workers on men's and boys' clothing, which started by 120,000 quitting work throughout the city on Dec. 30 of last year, came to an end by the remaining strikers, 30,000 in number, the others being at work under agreements of various kinds, returning to work in a body. The agreement under which the strikers returned to work provides for an advance in wages and other concessions.

BULLET IN BRAIN MAY NOT PREVENT RECOVERY OF BOY

Little Frank Rowan Shows Improvement and Unless Complications Arise He May Ultimately Recover—Is Conscious of What Takes Place About Him—Ball Will Not Be Removed.

With a 32-caliber bullet imbedded in the upper portion of the brain somewhere on the right side of the head, Little Frank Rowan, the lad who accidentally shot himself while toying with a revolver at his home in Sunnyside Wednesday morning, is apparently on the road to recovery, and unless some unforeseen complications arise, his ultimate recovery is predicted by the physicians in charge.

After being taken to the Hodson hospital Wednesday noon and given attention, he remained in a stupor until in the evening when he rallied somewhat and since that time has been slowly improving, and is conscious of what is going on, but talks little unless calling for something he desires.

Drs. Sherman Leach and Robert Drury, well known Columbus surgeons, were called in consultation Wednesday evening, arriving here on the evening train and returning on the 11:06.

It was the intention to remove the bullet from the lad's brain, but after a careful examination Dr. Leach recommended that the ball be allowed to remain where it was, believing that the child had a greater show for life than if weakened by an operation.

An examination just before he left for Columbus showed that the lad was perfectly conscious of what was said to him, and made intelligent answers to questions asked him. However the wound has caused paralysis of the left arm and shoulder, although the sense of pain still remained, indicating that there was hope that even the paralysis would eventually leave if the wound heals properly.

He was able to turn himself in bed but for the most part remained perfectly quiet, while his pulse and respiration were surprisingly good.

His grief-stricken mother and sister were present during Dr. Leach's last visit, and have watched over the lad with greatest anxiety and the most tender care.

Thursday morning his condition showed a marked improvement, but with the greatest possible improvement his condition will be extremely critical for some time to come.

Operation Saves Life

Gilbert Freshour, son of Mr. Dan Freshour, of the Prairie pike, has been in a critical condition from an attack of pleuro pneumonia. Purulent pleurisy developed, demanding an immediate operation. A gallon of poisonous matter was removed in the operation.

Young Freshour is doing nicely today and is expected to make a complete recovery.

Officers' Terms To Be Extended

Local officials are much interested in the Bernstein bill which was passed by the Senate Wednesday, and which as soon as signed by Governor Cox, will become a law.

The bill provides for the extension of the terms of the newly elected clerks of courts, recorders, surveyors and commissioners, more than one year in excess of the time for which they were elected so that their terms would expire January 1st, 1917.

The purpose of the bill is to have the various officers take office on the first of January following their election, except auditors and treasurers, whose terms will extend over the tax settlements in February.

Works Magazine Game Once More

Still another case of the magazine fraud has turned up in Chillicothe where a young man recently worked the town taking subscriptions for leading fashion journals and magazines.

He gave receipts on scraps of paper, explaining that he had used up all of his regular receipt blanks. He received from $2 to $8 from some of his victims, and they have never received a single copy of the magazines.

Hangs Himself From a Rafter

Douglas Berryhill, a widely known farmer of Green county, committed suicide Tuesday evening by hanging himself from a rafter in the barn, his remains being discovered by members of his family who were searching for him.

Berryhill had climbed to the top of the barn, affixed a nose about his neck, tied the other end of the rope to a rafter and jumped.

The man had been mentally deranged for nearly a score of years, and had been confined in the Dayton hospital.

Will Erect Modern Home

Harry Green has disposed of a large lot on Paint street near his residence, to P. F. Ortman, who will soon erect a modern home on the newly acquired property. Gerstner and Mark were agents in the sale of the property.

Mr. Ortman is now having plans prepared for his new home, and will erect it the coming summer. He has disposed of his home on North street to Mrs. Lydia Porter.

STEFANSSON TO GO FAR NORTH

Will Explore the "Arctic Continent" For British.

WILL BE GONE THREE YEARS

Plans to Carry Elaborate Wireless Apparatus and Moving Picture Machines to Aid in Work—Steam Whaler of 247 Tons to Carry Expedition—Eight Scientists in Party.

New York.—Flying the British flag and not the stars and stripes, as it was his original intention of doing, Vilhjalmur Stefansson, discoverer of the race of blond Eskimos around Coronation gulf, will conduct his second expedition into the arctic this summer. He will go into the great expanse of more than a million square miles of unexplored territory to the north of North America. This will be the first attempt to penetrate these waters from Bering strait since the days of the Jeannette expedition in 1879-81.

Mr. Stefansson's decision to go for the glory of Great Britain followed his communication with various societies inviting them to support him. He received a promise of $22,500 from the National Geographic society, $22,500 from the American Museum of Natural History and was awaiting the same from the Harvard Travelers' club and the Canadian government when the latter proposed to assume the expense of the entire expedition. Mr. Stefansson communicated with the other societies, and they consented that he make the trip for the Canadian government.

Mr. Stefansson will thus go into the Arctic ocean one year ahead of Captain Roald Amundsen, discoverer of the south pole, and it is believed in many circles that the Norwegian's success had much to do with prompting the Canadian government.

Mr. Stefansson has purchased the steam whaler Karluk, of 247 tons register. The vessel was built in 1884, and her hull is in perfect condition owing to its saturated condition with whale oil. She will be taken to Esquimaut, near Victoria, and from there will begin the voyage next May or early in June. The Karluk will proceed direct through Bering strait, and with Land's End, on Prince Patrick island, as her objective, will put as far into the Arctic ocean as the open water will permit. Mr. Stefansson expects to reach his destination in September and there will make his base. If he is unable to reach as far north by ship he will establish a secondary base at the northwest corner of Wolaston island or Victoria island, near his old exploring ground. The ship will be sent back each year, and Mr. Stefansson arranges to be in the arctic until the closing of the summer of 1916.

Wireless apparatus will be taken aboard the Karluk, and stations will be established at Land's End and at the secondary base, through which communication will be established with a station at Herschel island, near the mouth of the Mackenzie river. In connection with this system the Canadian government will establish a series of stations.

With a land base established Mr. Stefansson will penetrate the unknown region by sledges. Eight scientists will accompany the expedition and full marine meteorological, zoological and other observations will be made. Further study of the Eskimos will be made and moving pictures will be taken of them in all phases of their life.

GOVERNMENT CROP REPORT FOR THE MONTH OF MARCH

One-fifth of Wheat Crop Still in Hands of Farmers While Figures on Corn and Oats Indicate Large Storage in the Farmers' Granaries.

Grain of last year's crop remaining on farms March 1 formed the subject of the department of agriculture's crop report for March, which was issued this week.

The department's bureau of statistics, from reports of its correspondents and agents throughout the country, estimated the amount of wheat, corn, oats and barley on farms, with comparisons for preceding years, the proportion of each crop which will be shipped out of the counties where grown, and the percentage of the 1912 crop which was of merchantable quality, as follows:

Wheat—About 158,483,000 bushels, 21.4 per cent. of the 1912 crop remained on farms March 1, 1913, compared with 122,025,000 bushels or 19.6 per cent. of the 1911 crop in 1912; 162,705,000 bushels, or 25.6 per cent. of the 1910 crop in 1911; and 160,214,000 bushels or 23.4 per cent. of the 1909 crop in 1910.

About 61.6 per cent. of the 1912 crop will be shipped out of the counties where grown, against 56.1 per cent. of the 1911 crop so shipped; 55.6 per cent. of the 1910 crop so shipped and 61.1 per cent. of the 1909 crop so shipped.

Much Corn on Farms.
Corn—About 1,289,335,000 bushels, or 41.3 per cent. of the 1912 crop remained on farms March 1, 1913, compared with 884,069,000 bushels, or 34.9 per cent. of the 1911 crop in 1912; 1,165,378,000 bushels or 40.4 per cent. of the 1910 crop in 1911, and 977,561,000 bushels, or 38.3 per cent. of the 1909 crop in 1910.

About 21.8 per cent. of the 1912 crop will be shipped out of the counties where grown, against 20.5 per cent. of the 1911 crop so shipped; 22.9 per cent. of the 1909 crop so shipped.

The proportion of the 1912 crop which is merchantable is about 85.0

42,602,000 bushels, or 24.6 per cent. of the 1909 crop in 1910.

About 53.3 per cent. of the 1912 crop will be shipped out of the counties where grown, against 57.2 per cent. of the 1911 crop so shipped; 50 per cent. of the 1910 crop so shipped and 52.5 per cent. of the 1909 crop so shipped.

Turned Tide At Missionary Ridge

A letter received by James Walker of this city, yesterday, from Charles Stacey, of Norwalk, commander of the Ohio Medal of Honor legion, confirmed the claim which he recently made at a meeting of the Michell post, G. A. R., that the Thirty-first Ohio was entitled to the honor of having turned the tide of battle of Missionary Ridge.

Mr. Stacey said that he recently found an account of the battle, written by a lieutenant in the southern army, in which the same account of the breaking of the Confederate line by a single regiment was contained as that given by Mr. Walker. Mr. Walker was a color sergeant in the Thirty-first Ohio and is a medal of honor man.—Springfield Sun.

WILSON IS BACK OF PLAN TO BUILD CONNECTING LINK

J. M. Wilson, Traction Expert, and Others Interested in Construction of 25 Mile Electric Road From Lebanon to Xenia, Connecting Cincinnati and Springfield.

J. M. Wilson, former Fayette Co. boy who is now located in Cincinnati and has been engaged in the building of traction lines for several years has joined with others in an effort to build an electric road from Lebanon to Xenia, a distance of some 25 miles, and thus form a connecting link between Springfield and Cincinnati, making it the shortest route between the two cities by uniting the Springfield and Xenia line and the Cincinnati and Lebanon line.

Such a road has long been contemplated by traction magnates, and within the next few weeks something definite will be known about the project. If the road is built it will touch Springfield, which is now connected to Dayton by a traction road, and will also touch Waynesville, which is only a few miles from the western terminus of the Grasshopper railroad, so that there is a remote likelihood of the traction being extended across to London by using the Grasshopper right of way.

Farmers all along the line have expressed a willingness to assist in every way, realizing the immense value the road will be to them if it is constructed, as the territory is now without adequate shipping facilities.

Following is an extract concerning the proposed road, taken from the Commercial Tribune:

"William McKnight, the well known stock and bond dealer of Cincinnati in connection with J. M. Wilson, traction expert, will meet the stockholders of the new company at Lebanon. Arrangements have already been made for the entry of the new line into Cincinnati over the rails of the Interurban Railway and Terminal Company.

"Mr. McKnight states that it is the intention of the new company to furnish rapid transit to the people of the territory, which the line will serve, at a price which will fully justify their patronage, not only as to travel, but as to the shipment of freight, milk, butter and other farm produce. The line will be about 25 miles in length, and will cost about $14,000 per mile. It will be ready for business within the year."

Thursday's Springfield Sun also has the following to say about the connecting link to be built:

"At a meeting held in Lebanon yesterday, arrangements were completed whereby the last link in the chain of traction lines from Cincinnati to Springfield will be built from Lebanon to Xenia, connecting the Interurban and Terminal company's lines with the Springfield and Xenia Traction company's terminal at Xenia.

"The line will be co-operative in a way. The farmers living along the route have agreed to do the grading and to accept stock in the new company in return for their work. All rights of way have been furnished and there is no hitch to the road proceeding to build as fast as it can."

One of the best meetings of the series was held at Grace church last night, and fourteen more converts were added to the already large list, and interest was never deeper.

Rev. Ross again preached to a well filled house. Services will continue throughout the week.

Street Is Cut Entirely Through

Main street in front of the Y. M. C. A. property and Cherry hotel much resembles the mud roads called streets when Washington was still in its youth, and the street is shunned by all who are aware of its condition.

For a half square or more the street surface is cut through in many places, and is in fearful condition generally. Under the coxing of spring showers the thoroughfare will become in a still worse condition before the dry weather arrives unless steps are taken to make repairs immediately.

Laying Brick On New Building

Workmen commenced Thursday morning to lay brick and cement blocks on the new two-story building to be erected on the Burke corner on South Fayette street.

If the weather continues favorable the work will be pushed rapidly and the new building completed early this spring. It will be two stories high and the first floor will be divided into two business rooms, one of which will be occupied by the Burke Granite works.

Sunday Will Go To the Gem City

Billy Sunday will go to Dayton for a series of revival meetings next fall. This information is given by the Dayton News, which says:

Billy Sunday will come to Dayton. This is the information that has at last been elicited from the committee appointed to wait upon him for his final decision. The exact date of his coming cannot be stated at this time, but that the whirlwind evangelist is coming to "save Dayton" some time next fall, most likely in November, is certain.

Mr. Sunday's decision to conduct a six weeks' evangelistic campaign in this city marks the end of a year's effort on the part of the Dayton Ministerial association to obtain his services, and it was only by whipping those few down-town ministers into line with the movement that it was possible, as it is one of Sunday's most rigid rules that all churches must be closed during the campaign.

The last bars to the evangelist's coming have now been beaten down and the people of Dayton who have longed for long to have him carry on his campaign for Christ here, will now be able to look forward with assurance to his appearance next fall.

According to Mr. Sunday's custom, it will be necessary for a stock company to be formed here, to carry on the work of erecting the tabernacle. He will allow the local enthusiasts to stand the expense of constructing the necessary tabernacle, and all additional expenses will be met by him.

For himself it has been a rule with Mr. Sunday to take only those moneys collected or subscribed on the last meeting day of the campaign.

Cluster Lights For London

The proposal of substituting the cluster system for the present arc lamp for lighting the streets of London is meeting with much encouragement. Several prominent citizens are interesting themselves in the question and are making a canvas to determine the feeling of our business men as to their attitude on the proposed change. They report very little, if any opposition, and say that almost every one approached is favorable to the proposition. The matter, however, is, as yet, in its primary stage, and ways and means for meeting the financial end of the proposal are not yet thoroughly determined.—London Democrat.

Building a Street for Keeps

With the coming of warmer weather, the more direct rays of the sun and the dryer ground, resulting from the March gales, work, both public and private, is being planned and in not a few instances actually begun.

Washington has a great deal of public work which should be done and the prospects are exceedingly bright that much of it will be done this spring and summer.

Work has already been begun on the Rawling street paving contract and the people who own residence properties along that street are consequently happy. The street is comparatively new, but has at its western end especially shown, in the size and construction of its residences, to be, perhaps, the superior in appearances, of any other new street in the city.

With a true business and progressive public spirit which is correctly typified in the homes of that section, the property owners have, when the time arrived to improve the road way, indulged in no false economy, but have contracted for an enjoyable and a lasting improvement.

The wisdom of this course will be apparent to all observers in a comparatively short time.

Rawling street will be paved and consequently through with repairs and rebuilding, at least during the life time of those who are now using the street.

The time is not far distant when Washington must adopt a new method of street construction. The constant repair and rebuilding of streets conducted along old time lines is not only expensive, but wholly barren of benefit to the traveling public.

By the time the new material is worn down to the point that traveling over it in a vehicle is not productive of brain storms and nervous prostration, the ruts and chuck holes begin to appear.

More money is spent and less of satisfaction obtained in the present mode of constructing streets than in any other manner in which the public monies are disposed of.

Practically all the streets in old Washington which includes that district bounded on the west by Hinde street and on the east by North street, on the south by the creek and on the north by Paint street, should be paved with brick. In addition those narrow streets like North, Columbus avenue, Washington avenue and the like, which lead into the old turnpikes should be paved.

The work will cost a great deal of money, but the payments can be deferred and scattered out over a period of years which will make such a lasting and enjoyable improvement but little more expensive than the present old patch methods.

We have outgrown the old system. It will not carry the present type of vehicles.

It is probable that the Rawling street work will prove to be the satisfactory sample responsible for the city contracting for a great deal of the same kind of work.

Italian Women Beautiful Because They Eat Spaghetti

By LINA CAVALIERI, Italian Prima Donna

TRULY, THE SPAGHETTI IS AN AMBROSIAL FOOD, FIT FOR GODS AND FOR GODDESSES. AND I BELIEVE THAT IT MAKES ONE BEAUTIFUL, FOR ARE NOT THE WOMEN OF MY ITALY THE LOVELIEST IN ALL THE WORLD? AND DO THEY NOT PARTAKE OF THE SPAGHETTI? IS IT NOT TO THEM THE STAFF OF LIFE?

They have not indigestion and white, fat faces and slow moving bodies. They are tall, and there is a dusky red in their brown cheeks, for they are well, gloriously well, and the reason is that EASY TO DIGEST SPAGHETTI.

I eat anything—bread, soup, meat, vegetables, sweets—and my spaghetti. Always I have the appetite. I do not know why, but I do. And my singing is not troubled that I eat as other people. No, indeed! And I do not grow fat, no matter how much I eat. Is not that nice?

I think the fat, ugly woman is the lazy woman. Sometimes her body is LAZY; sometimes her brain is lazy; sometimes both. NO ONE WHO IS STUPID IS REALLY BEAUTIFUL. The eyes are dull and the smile is vacant unless there is a lively intelligence behind.

I WORK, but no one knows how I work. I study, study and practice, going over my old, old, scales, learning the new songs and operatic scores. That keeps my brain WAKED UP AND LIVELY. I do not let it get what you call "slew."

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR

The longer that I live, the more
Inscrutable I find,
And past all understanding are
The ways of womankind.

Dame Fashion says: "You must be fat
Or svelte—or quaintly lean,
More Botticelli-like"—and lo!
No other type is seen!

Some have to fast, some have to feast,
Oh! 'tis a strenuous life!
From week to week it's often hard
To recognize one's wife.

How interesting, too, to note
That scalp but lately bare
Can, in one night, grow lovely curls
Or massive braids of hair!

What magic shampoo stuff they use!
I only wish I knew
Its name (I'd never dare to ask),
For I've a bald spot, too.

But, as I said at first, the wiles
And ways of womankind
Are problems quite too vast and deep
For my untutored mind!

A GLIMPSE BACK THROUGH YEARS

April 25, 1867.

The Register man named Gould threatens to publish the names of his delinquent subscribers in what he calls a (black list). Some of them, he says, have run off to parts unknown—some of them, we suppose, deserted from the army and some run off to Canada to escape the draft. The bad rascals should not only be punished by putting their names in Gould's horrible (black list), but they stand a mighty good chance to be disfranchised under the amendment of the constitution.

Reputation for Fair Dealing Worth a Fortune

By John P. Fallon.

Henry Ward Beecher once said, "A reputation for fair dealing is itself a fortune."

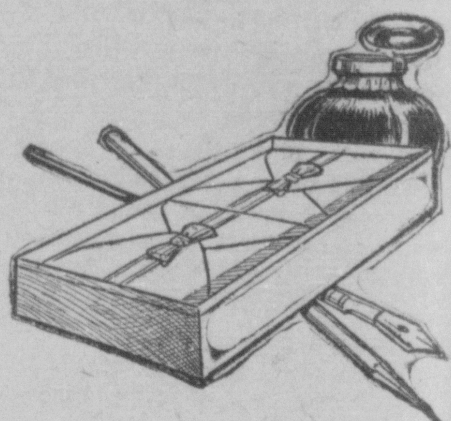

The merchant who is in business to stay knows that fair dealing and absolutely truthful advertising is the only way to get customers and keep them.

These are the essentials of success. They are the principles by which the reliable merchants who advertise in THE HERALD do business.

You can rely upon the advertisements which appear in this paper every night. The merchants who pay for these announcements cannot afford to risk their reputations. They know it pays them to advertise only so long as they continue to give their customers superior merchandise at honest prices and provide efficient store service.

Read the advertisements in THE HERALD closely and constantly every day for the latest news from Washington C. H.'s most reliable mercantile establishments.

Governor Not Anxious For State to Do Work

Governor Cox informed the delegates that Ohio, by taking advantage of the inactivity of other states, hopes to secure a large share of the federal appropriation for the improvement of roads. The plan is to have the government highway department turn over to Ohio two-fifths of the appropriation of $500,000. The state will supply an additional $200,000, while Franklin, Muskingum and Licking counties are expected to add a total of $200,000. This would give $600,000 in all for the national road between Columbus and Zanesville.

"By constructing the road from Columbus to Zanesville this year," said the governor, "I am confident in subsequent years the state and counties will lend their aid in continuing the highway in each direction across the state."

Senator Overman Would Have President Reconsider Appointment.

Washington, March 13.—Senator Lee S. Overman, chairman of the committee on rules in the new senate, called on President Wilson to enter a personal protest against the nomination of Dr. Charles P. Neill as commissioner of labor. Senator Overman asked the president to withdraw the nomination. He did not get any assurances on that point, but the president agreed to inspect certain reports made by agents of the bureau of labor on conditions in the south on which Senator Overman and other southern senators will supply him. These reports were the subject of a speech in the senate by Senator Overman nearly two years ago.

ARSON TRUST CHIEF MAKES CONFESSION

Admits Starting a Score of Fires In Chicago Alone.

Chicago, March 13.—The report that John Danies, alleged to have been chief of the so-called arson trust, had made a confession, was confirmed by First Assistant State's Attorney Frank Johnston. Danies, according to Johnston, named 40 members of the arson ring, including several men higher up, and admitted he had set more than 20 fires in Chicago. The confession is said to be even more startling than that recently made by Benjamin Fink, who confessed complicity in 100 incendiary fires.

An aggregate of $500,000 in insurance was collected from the Danies fires, said Johnston, who announced that at least 40 warrants for business men, public fire insurance adjusters and actual incendiaries named by Danies will be sworn out.

The confession was made after a seven-hour inquisition, during which Danies maintained his innocence until he broke down and made a clean breast of it.

"The ramifications of the trust as described by Danies are almost beyond belief," said Johnston. "The gang seemed to have worked in almost every state in the middle west. Danies and Fink were chiefs of the firebugs, although they did not belong to the same gang. Both men say they do not know each other, except by reputation."

MINISTERS BUY BEER: ARREST SALOONIST.

Kansas City, March 13.—Rev. J. M. Dunlavy and Rev. "I shall not desist while there is one place in Kansas City, Kan., where liquor can be bought," Rev. Dunlavy said in court.

The secretary himself was the first man to be vaccinated under the order. The operation was performed on his arm by one of the army medical officers almost before the ink was dry on his signature of the vaccination order.

Once Again 'Tis Said Scott Is In Ring

Albany, N. Y., March 13.—Renewing his charge of the existence of a prison ring, Dr. Austin Flint, in a letter made public by Governor Sulzer, expresses the opinion that the appointment of Colonel Scott as superintendent of prisons and his appointment of Dr. James W. May and Dr. John W. Russell were in the interest of the release of Harry Thaw. "I think the exposure of this conspiracy," says Dr. Flint, "prevented the execution of the original plan of action; but, to my mind, there is danger so long as Colonel Scott is in control of the hospital at Matteawan."

Looks Over the Testimony Taken In the Bank Probe.

Columbus, O., March 13.—"I don't know," was the answer Henry W. Backus, secretary and treasurer of the defunct Columbus Savings and Trust company, returned when asked if he knew what had become of treasurer's register A, one of the institution's record books, which, it is thought, would disclose the amount of alleged illegal deposits made by state treasurers and on which the state is seeking to recover interest.

The question was asked by H. J. Booth, counsel for the state in the inquiry being conducted before Judge George B. Okey as referee.

Prosecuting Attorney Turner is watching the testimony now being taken in treasury graft cases concerning the disappearance of books and papers and the mutilation of records. He is having transcripts of the testimony taken with a view of possible criminal proceedings.

As the mob retreated down the river road before the shots from the deputies' revolvers several men were seen to be limping and others were helped along by their companions. Ten strikers were arrested.

New York, March 13.—The New York Yacht club has declined to accept the challenge of the Royal Ulster Yacht club, made on behalf of Sir Thomas Lipton, for a series of races for the America's cup. The action of the club was unanimous. In substance, the refusal is based on Lipton's condition that the defending vessel shall not exceed 75 feet on the water line, and thereby deprives the defending club of the right of selecting a vessel of such size as it pleases, providing it be not less than 65 feet nor more than 90 feet on the water line.

Mrs. L. Cockerill Entertains W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Luther Cockerill hospitably entertained the Sugar Grove W. C. T. U. Wednesday afternoon at her spacious home on the Greenfield pike. There was a good attendance of members and several guests.

Mrs. Harry Silcott was the afternoon's leader. The subject "Initiative and Referendum" was ably handled by Mrs. Alma King and Mrs. Leo Baughn. Mrs. Anna Hardway and Mrs. Cockerill had good papers on "The Dangers of Intemperance," and Mrs. Silcott, a stirring paper on "Sterilize the Unfit."

Parliamentary drill was taken up in dialogue form and a resolution commending Mrs. Woodrow Wilson for her decision to keep wine out of the White House.

After the program a delicious collation was served.

FAIR PLAY FOR DR. FRIEDMAN AND ALSO FOR THE PUBLIC

One of the most useful functions of newspapers is to call public attention to public injustice. Occasionally, however, it is proper to inquire if the admirable zeal displayed in this good cause has not been hastily misapplied. For instance, Dr. Friedrich Franz Friedmann of Berlin is plaintively asking for a fair field in which to demonstrate his treatment for tuberculosis; one or two newspapers have at once sprung to champion his cause and are inquiring why Dr. Friedmann cannot be accorded fair play. Why, they ask, can he not be allowed a chance? Before answering this question, it is well to find out whether or not Dr. Friedmann has been denied fair play in any particular. In parenthesis, it may be remarked that, if all Dr. Friedmann wanted was a chance to demonstrate his treatment, he did not need to cross the ocean; indeed, his action in withdrawing his treatment from test by his own government accords somewhat strangely with his pose of unheeded and unjustly treated discoverer. Let that pass. Being on this side of the water he presumably wishes either to submit his treatment to investigation by competent and unprejudiced practitioners, or to employ it himself—under such conditions, of course, if he is acting in good faith, as will permit his colleagues to form an adequate opinion of it. If he wants the first-mentioned opportunity—merely to have his treatment investigated under proper conditions—the Public Health Service has offered to give it ample clinical test after demonstration of its harmlessness.

If on the other hand, he wishes to employ it himself in New York, he has merely to present the proper credentials and pass an examination to prove his fitness to practice, as any other physician would be obliged to do. This, to be true, would require time; but even this difficulty is not insurmountable, for the New York law contains a special provision for granting a license, under extraordinary circumstances, without the usual formalities. The New York authorities have signified their willingness to recognize extraordinary circumstances in this case provided Dr. Friedmann demonstrates the value of his method, and have stated that he is at liberty to make such demonstration in the New York City hospitals. We fail to see therefore that any unfairness is being shown Dr. Fried-mann; on the contrary, he seems to be receiving the largest opportunity that any discoverer could desire for the demonstration of his treatment. It appears, moreover, that the newspapers which have hastily assumed that Dr. Friedmann is being unjustly treated have missed an important point—indeed, the important point in the whole matter: What about justice to the public? Would it be fair or just to the throngs of tuberculosis sufferers, excited by hope of a "sure cure," to facilitate their unlimited experimentation and exploitation by an unknown and perhaps dangerous method? It would not; and justice to the public, while not incompatible with justice to Dr. Friedmann, is, after all, the paramount consideration. — Journal of American Medical Association.

Fight Cigaret Evil in Xenia

Probate Judge Howard, Superintendent of Schools, G. J. Graham, Truant Officer, C. C. Buckles and the teachers of the Xenia public schools are making a determined fight against the "cigarette evil" in Xenia, and they are to be commended for the progress they are making, says the Xenia Gazette. All boys in public schools who are caught smoking, are taken before Judge Howard by the school authorities, where they are given a lecture on the evils of smoking, and are required to tell where they secured their tobacco. The most of these boys are willing to pledge themselves to quit smoking, and it has been ascertained that practically all of them live up to their promises in that regard.

One teacher who has been active in the campaign against smoking among school boys, states that she finds a wonderful difference in the deportment and disposition to study on the part of boys who have quit smoking. She cites the case of one boy who was irritable and slighted his school work before he stopped smoking, and who is now completely changed in his disposition. Although a naturally bright boy, he received grades in the vicinity of 60 when he smoked, and now his grades average 80 or more.

The dealers who are suspected of selling tobacco and cigarettes to boys are also being hauled up on the carpet.

Spend Millions In New Buildings

Edmonton, Alta., March 12. Contractors and builders in Edmonton report that the demand for skilled and ordinary labor is greater this spring than it has been at any time previously in the history of the city. It is estimated that more than $22,000,000 will be expended in private buildings, in addition to which the municipality has plans for $10,000,000 worth of work, while the railroads can be counted upon to expend several million dollars in improvements. Many carpenters, brick layers, concrete and structural steel workers, plasterers, painters and electricians will be required when the regular season opens next month. The Edmonton Trades and Labor Council, headed by G. H. Geary, will open a labor bureau at once, with a view to securing workmen who will remain throughout the season. Building operations have been active this winter.

Second Bond Holders Want It

The following is from Huntington W. Va.
It has become known through a statement by George F. Johnson, of Parkersburg, receiver for the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton railroad, that the property of the corporation will be purchased by the second mortgage bondholders at a sale to be held on April 17th. The sale has been already advertised. Mr. Johnson has been in the city conferring with the local capitalists in connection with the deal. The majority of the second mortgage bondholders, who, it is stated, will purchase the road, are Eastern capitalists, and it is also believed that the purchasers will make extensive improvements on the road and make it a paying proposition. A sale of the property was to have been held late in the year 1912, but a postponement was secured until April, 17th, 1913. Mr. Johnson will leave tomorrow to go over the road.

Claim Hungarian Flag Floated Over Warship Which Sinks Transports

Four Servian Transports Are Sent to Bottom of the Ocean and Thousands of Troops Are Drowned—May Cause Another European War.

Special to Herald.

Gettjenje, Montenegro, March 13.—Early this morning four Servian transports, laden with troops, were sunk by an unidentified war ship alleged to be flying the Austro Hungarian flag. Several thousand soldiers were drowned when the ships went down.

Great excitement prevails over the catastrophe and if it develops that it was a Hungarian warship that sunk the troop ships, immediate declaration of war is expected.

THE OHIO STATE BOARD OF AGRICULTURE TAKES VERY IMPORTANT ACTION

Free Distribution of Hog Cholera Serum Means Much to Hog Raisers of the Buckeye State.

MEMBER JESSE F. CROSS HEADS SWINE DEPARTMENT

One Thousand Boys Will Go to Washington, D. C., Next December as a Result of Contests Plans.

Of great interest and benefit to the hog raisers of Fayette county, was the action of the State Board of Agriculture, at their regular meeting in Columbus Wednesday to provide free distribution of anti-hog cholera serum. The serum may be administered by any registered veterinary in Ohio. The serum immunizes hogs from the disease for six weeks.

Free virus with serum also was favored by the board, but when this is administered, the board held, it must be done by a state veterinary.

the operation of inoculation for this being more difficult.

In resolutions the governor was asked to recommend the appropriation of money sufficient to establish an experiment district in some town-ship against cholera. The board has the assurance that the federal government will assist in this fight and experts from the national department of agriculture will be lent the Ohio board.

STATE FAIR DEPARTMENT.

The State Fair department heads were named at Wednesday's meeting, Mr. J. F. Cross, of this city, was placed at the head of the Swine department.

CORN GROWING COMPETITION.

Reports showed that more than 1000 boys will take in the corn boys' trip to Washington, D. C., in December. The corn growing competition this year promises to assume big proportions and there are 60 girls also competing for the free Washington trips by raising prize corn.

The Pennsylvania railroad presented a plan of contests in produce raising among High school pupils, with cheap trips to the national capital as a reward. This met with approval and it is possible that 2500 boys and girls from rural and urban schools may take advantage of the offer.

The Theaters

THE INTERNATIONAL "BEN-HUR."

Spectacular magnificence, dramatic splendor and religious ecstasy are the most notable concomitants of Klaw and Erlanger's International production of "Ben-Hur", which will be the offering at the Hartman theater, Columbus, Ohio, the week of March 17, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday. During the thirteen years which have passed since the original presentation of this noble drama—its owners have not only kept it up to its original grandeur, but have elaborated and developed the possibilities of the production each season, until today it stands unrivaled in beauty and splendor of establishment, unsurpassed in dramatic significance and power. It was the "last word" of the stage craft of the nineteenth century and into the new age it brought a bigness and perfection which will remain the standard for decades to come.

Dealing with the earth life of Jesus, the most important period in history, "Ben-Hur" shows the world at its most wonderful point in magnificence and wealth, for Rome ruled the world and Caesar Augustus was emperor of the mightiest realm the earth had known. Into this time of display and pomp came the lowly Nazarene, the Christos for whom the nation had longed, and it is this personality of Jesus that, permeating the fabric of the Wallace-Young drama, makes it a sermon as well as a drama of tremendous significance. The reverence with which the immensity of Christ is indicated has made "Ben-Hur" a religious pageant, while the sweep of the story of "Ben-Hur" and Messala, Esther and Iras, carries audiences off their feet, the culmination of the dramatic plot being the chariot race, wherein Ben-Hur conquers and degrades his enemy.

Nothing more realistic than this scene in the arena of the Circus of Antioch with Ben-Hur and Messala contesting for supremacy has ever been imagined by a dramatist or executed by a producer. The race enthralls because on its outcome depends life, love, honor, riches to the victor, and when Ben-Hur receives the victor's crown of wild olive, audiences applaud with the greatest enthusiasm.

The prices for all performances are 50c to $1.50, the first time in America at this scale. Mail orders will receive prompt attention. Seats will be placed on sale Thursday, March 13.

Noted Recluse Dies in West

Spokane, Wash., March 13.—Edward Connolly, recluse, pioneer homesteader, civil war veteran and enthusiastic student of Shakespeare, who was pronounced "dead" by the superior court of Spokane county six weeks ago, really died in this city this week.

He had a brother who was killed in the Indian mutiny at Calcutta, and his aunt was the famous Ann Devlin, who suffered a bayonetting from English soldiery rather than reveal the hiding place of the Irish hero, Robert Emmet.

An eccentric, apparently sour-tempered old man, beneath the surface Connolly had a sunny disposition. From his rough log cabin on his homestead south of Spokane, taken up in 1873, and retained as a home ever since, many a wanderer departed fed and warm. To the few he permitted to enter into closest friendship with him he revealed a rare and apparently inexhaustible fund of anecdotes of travels all over the world, of battles on Union gunboats, of early travels in the western wilderness, of long months of roving.
